Dialogue on "Health & Well-being: Post COVID"

Thursday, May 27, 2021 @1PM – 3:30PM, EDT

RSVP here

We are going to address how health and well-being standards are facing new challenges due to the pandemic. There are those suffering from Long-COVID with their ever changing symptoms. People of all ages with previously diagnosed diseases and medical conditions are vulnerable. Many have mental health issues related to depression from being isolated along with the physical limitations of being quarantined for months. Groups from all sectors have ongoing questions and concerns about vaccines. Scientists and medical professionals together with the private sector and national authorities are stepping up at a much faster pace than ever before to consider these concerns including the recent developments in India. They are investing their resources to develop new and innovative approaches to support prevention, rehabilitation and sustained recovery. We engage in partnership building for the 17 UNSDGs to achieve success of the UN2030 Sustainable Development Agenda to "Leave No One Behind." We will share an overview of our UN75 People's Declaration for the UN We Need.
